

Name the Astronaut Mascot!

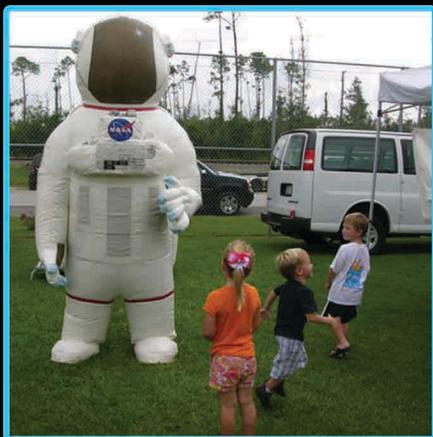

The astronaut mascot at NASA John C. Stennis Space Center is in search of something very important--a name! Your class can help in this quest.

Each class is encouraged to collaborate and submit one recommendation at the link below. The class providing the selected name will receive a fun-filled day of NASA activities including a visit by the astronaut mascot and recognition as the class providing the winning name.

Entry dates are from Tuesday, March 15, until Friday, April 8. The school with the selected entry will be notified in April, and the astronaut mascot's new name along with the school and class will be posted on the Stennis website.

Through the link below, teachers will find educational material with supporting curriculum and valuable information on the use and design of the astronaut space suit.

For questions or more information, please contact Tessa Keating at 228-688-3341.

astronaut mascot naming contest

For contest entry, visit:
www.nasa.gov/centers/stennis/education