

Demonstration of Autonomous Rendezvous Technology (DART)

Case Study Transcript

Case Study Road Map

This Case Study is divided into three parts.

- First we present background material and provide some history into the DART project management environment. This will include the PowerPoint slides you are looking at along with video clips from DART project participants. The background material will expand on the Read-Ahead material you should have already reviewed.

- Secondly we ask you - the participant - to engage in an exercise wherein you become the project manager at a key decision point and brief senior managers on existing risks within the project and the path forward to mission success.

- Third, we provide an epilogue with “the rest of the story” ... a description of key events in the DART mission

Finally – you will be provided with links to an extensive library containing relevant DART project documentation.