Space Shuttle Commemorative Patch

The Space Shuttle Program selected Blake Dumesnil's design as the winner in the Space Shuttle Program Commemorative Patch Contest. Dumesnil, of Hamilton Sundstrand at NASA's Johnson Space Center in Houston, also received the highest percentage of votes in an internal NASA People's Choice poll. A panel of NASA judges selected the winning patch from 85 entries submitted by NASA employees and contractors. The patch flew on the STS-132 mission.
