SUBJECT: Employee Exchange and Morale Support Activities

RESPONSIBLE OFFICE: X/Office of the Center Director XM/Office of the Associate Director for Management

1. POLICY

a. In accordance with NPD 9050.6, NASA Exchange and Morale Support Activities (EMSA) Dryden has established an Exchange Council to manage EMSA activities at the Center. The intent of the Exchange Council is to ensure EMSA elements are operated in a business-like manner and promote the morale and welfare objectives of the Center. The council has established retail activities, such as a cafeteria, vending machine operations, and a gift shop. Agency policy further prohibits employees from establishing activities within their organizations that compete with the center employee exchange venues. As such, Dryden has established the following criteria to further clarify implementation of this policy.

b. An employee may not engage in any fund raising activity at Dryden that competes with the Dryden Flight Line Eatery, Gift Shop, vending machine activity, or ticket sales activity.

c. Organizations or project groups may, however, establish small, local canteens to provide refreshments or similar items, if either:

(1) the organization or group is remotely located, so that the Exchange cannot provide the quantity of refreshments needed in an efficient and timely manner (such as during Shuttle landing support activities in Area (A), during Shuttle landing support), or

(2) the organization or project group provides specific items, such as coffee, when there are no vending machines in the building that offer those options. Any canteen organized for this purpose must be narrow in terms of the products offered.

d. Organizations or project groups may conduct special events, such as barbeques, for the purpose of enhancing morale and camaraderie. However, they can not collect funds in excess of the supplies needed for the event.

e. Organizations or project groups may purchase and sell special commemorative items related to particular project organizations, activities, or events such as T-shirts, hats, jackets, patches, and pins, for the purpose of enhancing morale and camaraderie. However, they can not collect funds in excess of that need to acquire and distribute the items.

f. Allowable canteens and other activities under this policy cannot operate at a profit. That is, they may not collect funds in excess of the cost of supplies and then use those funds for other purposes, such as social gatherings.
