

NONREIMBURSABLE SPACE ACT AGREEMENT BETWEEN
LOCKHEED MARTIN CORPORATION SPACE SYSTEMS COMPANY
ADVANCED TECHNOLOGY CENTER AND NASA
FOR
SPHERES INTERACT: GRAPHICAL USER INTERFACE RESEARCH

ARTICLE 1. AUTHORITY AND PARTIES

In accordance with The National Aeronautics and Space Act, (51 U.S.C. 20113(e)), this Agreement is entered into by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration located at 300 E Street SW, Washington, DC 20546 (hereinafter referred to as "NASA") and Lockheed Martin Corporation, acting through its Lockheed Martin Space Systems Company, Advanced Technology Center located at 1111 Lockheed Martin Way, Sunnyvale, CA 94089, (hereinafter referred to as "Lockheed Martin" or "PARTNER"). NASA and Partner may be individually referred to as a "Party" and collectively referred to as the "Parties."

ARTICLE 2. PURPOSE

NASA plans to operate a share of the U.S. accommodations of the International Space Station (ISS) as a national laboratory in accordance with the NASA Authorization Act of 2005. To fulfill this mandate, NASA released an announcement entitled the "OPPORTUNITY FOR THE USE OF THE INTERNATIONAL SPACE STATION BY DOMESTIC ENTITIES OTHER THAN U.S. FEDERAL GOVERNMENT AGENCIES". Lockheed Martin responded to this announcement with a proposal to conduct research on the ISS using the Synchronized Position Hold Engage Re-orient Experimental Satellites (SPHERES) facility.

SPHERES is an ongoing demonstration facility operated by NASA on the ISS. It uses the internal ISS environment to provide a long-term, renewable, evolving, and upgradable test bed for the development and testing of multi-body formation flying and other multi-spacecraft control algorithms. Three self-contained free-flying satellites fly within the cabin of the ISS, performing flight formations and testing control algorithms. The satellites communicate with each other and an ISS laptop through a low-power wireless link.

During the flight sessions there are three phases: programming SPHERES, free-flying operations, and data retrieval. Programming involves uploading algorithms for each specific session to the SPHERES laptop. The laptop sends the algorithms and commands to the satellites and receives data and status reports from the satellites. The data is then downlinked to the ground crew for analysis. Because each successive test session modifies the underlying software, the SPHERES facility is constantly evolving.

The SPHERES facility currently includes a standard graphical user interface (GUI). Lockheed Martin seeks to test a newly-developed GUI using the SPHERES facility. As a necessary precursor to testing the new GUI, Lockheed Martin must first upgrade the ISS SPHERES laptops' underlying software/firmware, including the current GUI, with a visualization interface. This visualization interface will be backwards compatible and will enable an additional display to show real time experiment data on the ISS SPHERES laptop.

Once the SPHERES facility has been upgraded, Lockheed Martin and NASA will work together to conduct a minimum of four (4) SPHERES Test Sessions (Interact Research Test Sessions), including crew Interact research experiments, and real-time ISS-ground Interact research experiments. Additional test sessions over the minimum of 4 may be conducted as required to achieve the objectives of the research. Consistent with the evolutionary and integrated nature of the SPHERES facility, once all Interact Research Tests Sessions have been completed, the visualization interface upgrade will remain, an integrated part of the SPHERES research facility available to all using the facility.

ARTICLE 3. RESPONSIBILITIES

A. Lockheed Martin will use reasonable efforts to:

ARTICLE 6. PRIORITY OF USE

Any schedule or milestone in this Agreement is estimated based upon the Parties' current understanding of the projected availability of NASA personnel, facilities and equipment. In the event that NASA's projected availability changes, Partner shall be given reasonable notice of that change, so that the schedule and milestones may be adjusted accordingly. The Parties agree that NASA usage of the facilities, equipment, and personnel shall have priority over the usage planned in this Agreement. Should a conflict arise, NASA in its sole discretion shall determine whether to exercise that priority. Likewise, should a conflict arise as between two commercial users, NASA, in its sole discretion, shall determine the priority as between the two users. This Agreement does not obligate NASA to seek alternative government property or services under the jurisdiction of NASA at other locations.

ARTICLE 7. NONEXCLUSIVITY

This Agreement is not exclusive; accordingly, NASA may enter into similar Agreements for the same or similar purpose with other U.S. private or public entities.

ARTICLE 8. LIABILITY AND RISK OF LOSS

1. The objective of this Article is to establish a cross-waiver of liability in the interest of encouraging participation in the exploration, exploitation, and use of outer space through the International Space Station (ISS). The Parties intend that the cross-waiver of liability be broadly construed to achieve this objective.

2. For the purposes of this Article:

In the event that inventions are made under this Agreement by employees of a NASA Related Entity or jointly between NASA employees and employees of a NASA Related Entity, and NASA has the right to acquire or has acquired title to such inventions, NASA will use reasonable efforts to report such inventions. Upon request, NASA will use reasonable efforts to grant Partner, consistent with the requirements of 37 C.F.R. Part 404, a license on terms to be subsequently negotiated to any such invention on which NASA has acquired title and decides to file a patent application. This license will be subject to the rights reserved in paragraph 5(b) below.

4. Joint Inventions With Partner

NASA and Partner agree to use reasonable efforts to identify and report to each other, and to cooperate with each other in obtaining patent protection on, any inventions made jointly between NASA employees (or employees of a NASA Related Entity) and employees of Partner. When inventions are reported and disclosed between the Parties in accordance with the provisions of this clause, the receiving Party agrees to withhold such reports or disclosures from public access for a reasonable time (presumed to be 1 year unless otherwise mutually agreed or unless such information is restricted for a longer period herein) in order to facilitate the allocation and establishment of the invention and patent rights under these provisions.

7. Patent Filing Responsibilities and Costs

(a) The invention and patent rights set forth herein will apply to any patent application filed and any patent obtained covering an invention made as a result of the performance of activities under this Agreement. Each Party is responsible for its own costs of obtaining and maintaining patents covering sole inventions of its employees; except that NASA and Partner may mutually agree otherwise, upon the reporting of any invention (sole or joint) or in any license granted, as to responsibilities and course of action to be taken to establish and maintain patent protection on such invention.

(b) Partner agrees to include the following statement in any patent application it files for an invention made jointly between NASA employees (or employees of a NASA Related Entity) and employees of Partner:

The invention described herein may be manufactured and used by or for the U.S. Government for U.S. Government purposes without the payment of royalties thereon or therefor.
