

Resources for Video and Film Related to Apollo

For NASA Online Materials:

NASA Images and Video Library

NASA's Apollo Program 50th Anniversary

NASA's Scientific and Technical Information \(STI\) YouTube Program

Apollo Flight Journal YouTube Program

Collection of oral histories at Johnson Space Center (only available as written transcripts)

For annotated air-to-ground mission transcripts with supporting historical material:

- The Apollo Flight Journal
- The Apollo Lunar Surface Journal

Media Contacts and Information

Guidelines for Using NASA Imagery and Video

HQ/Center Video/Movie Footage Contacts

For National Archives and Records Administration Materials:

NARA has an amazing collection of NASA films, some of it available online. Currently, a cache of large format materials is being digitized; the project is ongoing and NARA anticipates the work to continue for many months – at the moment, NARA does not have any of this digitized content available for public access. When this project is completed, NARA will be able to make this content available for your project.

Footage requests: mopix@nara.gov

Still-Image Collections and Audio Internet Archive (note the newly digitized 30-track mission control audio)