

ABCs of NASA Space Technology

National Aeronautics and Space Administration

Technology drives exploration to the Moon, Mars, and beyond. NASA's Space Technology Mission Directorate (STMD) develops transformative space technologies to enable future missions.

STMD engages and inspires thousands of entrepreneurs, researchers, and innovators, creating a community of America's best and brightest working on the Nation's toughest challenges. Space technology research and development take place at NASA Centers, universities, and national labs.

