

COLOR THE FUTURE OF AVIATION WITH NASA

ELECTRIFIED POWERTRAIN FLIGHT DEMONSTRATION

NASA is collaborating with U.S. companies GE Aerospace and magniX to test future airplanes powered in part by electricity.

These airplanes use new technologies that allow the vehicle to fly with both a battery and a jet engine, which helps cut down on gas.

Testing these technologies will help introduce cleaner airplanes that are safer for our environment.

SCAN TO LEARN MORE ABOUT
SUSTAINABLE AVIATION

