Your Adventure with Callie

“Every time I put on this spacesuit, I forget this suit is so _____ . How do we do this so often, again?” you say, bemoaning
[adjective]
the _____ space suit you’re putting on.
[adjective]

“It’s not like it’s going to be annoying when you’re _____ in low gravity. And come on, we’re going to _____ [verb ending in -ing] [verb]
today!” Callie says. You finally finish gearing up, and the both of you head out to the lunar habitat.

As you get into the rover, you admire the _____ view. The surface of the Moon looks wonderfully _____ today.
[adjective] [adjective]

Looking out at the gray horizon, Callie says, “Wow. Looks just like _____.”
[favorite place/location]

You continue to move _____ along, but when you see some _____ on the ground, you stop to take a look.
[adverb] [noun]

“I thought it was _____ at first, but _____ what a find! Everyone else will love it if we bring it back.” Callie says, [noun] [interjection]
inspecting the _____ item before picking it up.
[adjective]

“You make it sound like we’re hunting for food. I’ll stick to my dehydrated _____ [food]
instead, thank you very much.”

The two of you continue _____ the area. At one point, you stare [verb ending in -ing]
out into space and see a small light that you identify as _____ .
[planet]

When you regroup, you compare the _____ Moon rocks that you and [adjective]

Callie found. A couple of hers look like _____ , while yours
[plural noun] [verb ending in -ing]
look like _____ .
[plural noun] [verb ending in -ing]

Callie suddenly says, “Race you!” and the two of you attempt to run back to the rover, but with the gravity you both look more like _____ .
[plural animal] [verb ending in -ing]

Back at the base, mission control congratulates the two of you on doing some _____ [adjective]
scavenging. You and Callie high-five and say, “ _____ !”
[interjection]
