SUBJECT: Determination Regarding Attendance by NASA Employees at the Venturi
Astrolab and Axiom Space Reception on March 27, 2025

On March 27, 2025, Venturi Astrolab, Inc., (“Astrolab”) & Axiom Space, Inc. (Axiom) will hold a reception at 555 8th St., NW, Washington, DC, at 5:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. The event is to celebrate Astrolab and Axiom’s work to provide commercial services on the Moon. To that end, Astrolab will have its FLEX and FLIP lunar rovers on display. Astrolab and Axiom are in control of the planning, organizing, and issuing invitations for this event.

Approximately 200 people are expected to attend the event. Attendees will have a diversity of views or interests and will include personnel from congressional staffers, state and local officials, academia, other companies, other federal agencies, and media. The estimated cost of the event, including all food and beverages, is approximately $50 per person. Attendance at this event will allow NASA attendees to exchange information regarding various NASA programs. I find that the event meets the requirements of a “widely attended gathering” as defined in 5 C.F.R. § 2635.204(g)(2).

NASA employees who do not have a significant role in a matter affecting the interests of the sponsor may accept an invitation for free attendance for themselves to the event. In those circumstances, I find that the Agency’s interest in attendance outweighs any concern that the individual may be, or may appear to be, improperly influenced in the performance of their duties.

Additionally, NASA employees who have a significant role in any pending matter affecting the interests of Astrolab or Axiom, such as procurement duties, program management, or negotiating or administering a Space Act Agreement, should seek a separate determination from their local ethics counselor as to whether they may accept the invitation.
