SUBJECT: Determination Regarding Attendance by NASA employees at the Space Policy Institute Event on April 29, 2026

On April 29, 2026, the Space Policy Institute at George Washington University, an academic research center within George Washington University, an organization under 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, will host a dinner and post-discussion event with Sam Black, OMB Science and Space Branch Chief at DACOR Bacon House, Washington, DC, from 6:30 pm to 9:00 pm.

Approximately 120 people have been invited to attend. Guests of NASA personnel are not invited. Attendees will have a diversity of views or interests and will include Congressional staff, industry, academia, FFRDCs, other federal agencies, and local representatives of international space agencies. The estimated cost of the event, including all food and beverages, is $130 per person.

The Space Policy Institute is in control of the organizing, planning and invitations for this event. Attendance at this event will allow NASA attendees to exchange information regarding various NASA programs. I find that the event meets the requirements of a “widely attended gathering” as defined in 5 C.F.R. § 2635.204(g)(2).

I further determine that there is an Agency interest in having NASA personnel attend the event because it will provide an opportunity for the invited persons to exchange ideas and views pertaining to NASA’s policies, programs and operations. NASA employees, who do not have a significant role in a matter affecting the interests of the sponsor may accept an invitation for free attendance to the event. In those circumstances, I find that the Agency’s interest in attendance outweighs any concern that the individual may be, or may appear to be, improperly influenced in the performance of their duties.

However, NASA employees who have a significant role in any pending matter affecting the interests of the Space Policy Institute or George Washington University, such as procurement duties, program management, or negotiating or administering a Space Act Agreement, should seek a separate determination from their local ethics counselor as to whether they may accept the invitation.
